DETAILED ACTION

1. This is the third office action for serial number 10/603,509. This application remains 10 pending claims.

2. Acknowledgement of Applicant's abstract entered filed 5/02/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 6,035,228 to Yanof et al.

Yanof et al. discloses a frameless stereotactic arm (30) (Fig. 2) comprising a stand column (46 for example); a pivot arm (50, 54 or 106, 114); a rotary bearing (at each joint) for mounting the pivot arm on the stand column; an electromagnetic brake (Figs. 4, 5 for example) for locking the pivoting motion of the pivot arm in the rotary bearing (at the joint or knuckle 58, for example); and a mechanical brake (170) (Fig. 7) having adjustable braking force for braking the pivot arm in the rotary bearing. (The electromagnetic brake and mechanical brake devices are provided at respective joints to selectively lock the free end (40) of the arm). The stand of Yanof et al. can be embodied as both a floor stand or a ceiling mounted (42).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-8 are objected to, but would be allowable if rewritten to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 5/02/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to Applicant's argument that the mechanical brake 170 in Fig. 7 of Yanof stops rotation of lower arm 54 relative to knuckle member 58, and has nothing to do with braking rotation of pivot arms 50, 54, 106 or 114, as indicated by examiner, in rotary bearing 58 on stand column 46. Therefore, mechanical brake 170 of Yanof does not correspond to mechanical brake 7 of the present application, examiner respectfully submits that Applicant's argument is well taken but it is not persuasive because of the following reasons: First, Yanof clearly teaches a mechanical brake (Fig. 7, element 170 for example) having adjustable braking force for braking the pivot arm in the rotary bearing where the examiner shows the rotary bearing is at the joint as pointed out in the rejection. It should be noted that elements 44, 48, 52, 56 are all pivot joints. Second, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In this instant case, the mechanical brake is clearly capable of braking the pivot arm in the rotary bearing joint. The rejection of claims 1 and 9-10 as being anticipated by Yanof is therefore still maintained.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
